

San Ignacio Lagoon Gray Whales with Baja Expeditions

Humpback Whale Watching

The day before your departure, join us for a complimentary BackScatter Photo Workshop and humpback whale watch excursion.

Private Charter Flight

Wonderfully remote yet just about two hours from Cabo San Lucas, we will fly you by private charter to San Ignacio lagoon, the last untouched lagoon for gray whale encounters.

Wilderness Glamping

Our wilderness tents have been carefully placed along the shoreline, so you can enjoy uninterrupted views over the lagoon in total privacy. Your comfort comes first, and we are the only camp to feature real beds and fine linen, as well as heating for colder nights in the desert, ensuring you get a good night's sleep.

We are also the only camp to feature fire pits, clubhouse, and an adult area serving fine wine, craft beer and single malt scotches.

Unparalleled Gray Whale Encounters

Each winter gray whales migrate to the warm, shallow waters of San Ignacio Lagoon to mate and calve; bringing the world's most extraordinary wildlife encounters. Come face to face with these gentle giants while staying in remote, beachfront glamping tents.
